Introduction to 2017 ICPA (12th) & ISWAS(1st)

Whether grappling with natural disasters or delivering day-to-day public services as education or healthcare, public bodies increasingly must work with other organizations to get the job done. Similarly, government managers themselves often need to identify and address risks in ways that require cooperating across multiple organizations to reduce the potential for serious harm.

The growth of complexity is a major reason for these developments—that is, increased complexity in the types of services that public bodies deliver; waves of technology; and organizational sprawl. To the extent that complexity leads to problems that extend beyond any one organization's boundaries, these problems are likely to be with us for a long time.

2017 ICPA will address ways of managing governmental organizations to focus problems or deliver services that require cooperation across organizational boundaries. What kinds of governance work best to ensure collaborative efforts across governmental organizations—or between government and such private organizations as NGOs, for-profit contractors and other third-parties—that ensure effective public service delivery? How should these relationships be structured? Can new technologies help to bridge organizational gaps and provide public services seamlessly? The first ISWAS will address ways of having the issues, challenges and problems facing western African countries in the process of economic and social development settled as Africa is currently one of the most dynamic developing regions worldwide.

Since Africa is one of the most dynamic developing regions worldwide, and the first International Symposium on West African Studies (ISWAS) is concurrently conducted with 2017 International Conference on Public Administration (ICPA) in Ghana, The first ISWAS will address ways of having the issues, challenges and problems facing western African countries in the process of economic and social development

The Proceedings 2017 International Conference on Public Administration (12th) & International Symposium on West African Studies (1st) encompass a wide-ranging analysis and examination of excellence and innovation in public administration research and practice. The Proceedings contain Volume I and Volume II with a rich and broad collection of ideas and research findings directed at Managing across Organizational Boundaries: Innovation and Collaboration and Promoting Social and Economic Development in West Africa from Global Perspective respectively.

The submissions of 2017 International Conference on Public Administration (12th) & International Symposium on West African Studies (1st) have amounted to Five Hundred and Twenty-Eight pieces from both China and abroad by experts, scholars and practitioners to School of Political Science and Public Administration of University of Electronic Science and Technology of China and American Society for Public Administration respectively. After peer reviews by 2017 ICPA Academic Committee, the papers collected in Proceedings of 2017 International Conference on Public Administration (12th) & International Symposium on West African Studies (1st) (Volume I and Volume II) are Two Hundred and Fifty-Four, which offers a wide array of new knowledge and information on subjects that public administrators and scholars should find out some valuable and practical uses.

The 2017 International Conference on Public Administration (12th) & International Symposium on West African Studies (1st) bring together an array of authors and topics drawn from many countries and regions and attracted international interests and inquiries from scholars and public administration practitioners in China, Ethiopia, Ghana, India, Indonesia, Lesotho, Japan, Macao SAR of P.R. China, Nigeria, Netherlands, Philippines, South Africa, South Korea, Uganda, the United States, the United Kingdom and Zambia. The Twelfth International Conference on Public Administration (12th) & International Symposium on West African Studies (1st) were truly international.

■ Welcome Message to 2017 ICPA from University of Ghana

University of Ghana (UG), Accra, Ghana in association with the University of Electronic Science and Technology of China (UESTC), American Society for Public Administration (ASPA), Ghana Institute of Management and Public Administration (GIMPA) and University of Cape Coast (UCC), Ghana is delighted to host the 12th International Conference on Public Administration (ICPA) at Accra, Ghana, from November 14-16, 2017.

Thus far, the ICPA conferences have been conducted in various countries including the UK, the US, Australia, India and South Africa, Indonesia, apart from P.R. China during the last 11 years. These conferences have witnessed developments both in the theory and practice of public administration and their extensive application across the globe. We hope that many new ideas and innovative techniques will emerge from this 12th conference and that these too could be applied to various societies based on their political and historical context.

The growing participation in these series of conferences reflects the sterling work of the organizers, especially UESTC and ASPA, which has helped to elevate the conference to world class status thus creating an ideal platform for research institutions, academics and practitioners of public administration to exchange their latest findings, share ideas and update their knowledge for further professional development.

The theme of the conference — Managing across Organizational Boundaries: Innovation and Collaboration has been carefully chosen to focus on Managing across Organizational Boundaries globally. Authored by academics and practitioners worldwide, the collection promises to advance public administration research and practice. There are 6 sub-themes—Governance and Management to Improve Cooperation Across Organizations, Public Private Partnerships, Reducing Complexity When Delivering Public Services, Encouraging Collaborative Behavior by Public Officials, Social Equity and the Quality of Inter-organizational Cooperation, Big Data and Effective Network Management.

Due to time and space constraints, only 46 research papers were selected for presentation. Many eminent personalities will be delivering lectures at the 7 expert seminars during the course of the conference. The event will also include a GIMPA workshop, a new addition to the ICPA conference series.

We, at University of Ghana, hope that you will make the most of this truly international conference, by participating fully in all the sessions, exchanging ideas and forging networks wherever possible. We also hope that you will take time to experience the beautiful city of Accra.

■ Welcome Message to 2017 ICPA from GIMPA

The Ghana Institute of Management and Public Administration (GIMPA), in association with the University of Electronic Science and Technology of China (UESTC), the University of Ghana (UG), the University of Cape Coast (UCC), and the American Society for Public Administration (ASPA) is delighted to host the 12th International Conference on Public Administration (ICPA), in Accra, Ghana from 14-16 November 2017. The Rectorate at GIMPA is particularly happy to see the growth in quality, and the spread of academic research excellence that has been shared abroad with the formation and development of the International Chapter of the ASPA, as we were involved as foundational members.

The theme of the conference – Managing Across Organisational Boundaries: Innovation and Collaboration was carefully chosen to reflect the current focus of public administration research internationally. It offers ample room for reflection on the core issues that our Institute has been grappling with in our core contribution to public policy and management in Ghana. GIMPA is therefore pleased to host the Workshop on Public Administration, as well as concurrent sessions on the 16th of November at its Executive Conference Centre. We look forward to offering an engaging session by treating the international scholars to the contemporary issues in Ghanaian Public Administration: The One Million Dollar Constituency Development Fund and the Existing District Assemblies Common Fund within the context of Boundary spanning and Collaboration; The Zongo Development Fund; and the One-District-One-Factory local economic development policy and Ghana's quest for Industrial Transformation. This will be moderated by Agyeman Frimpong, with Lord Mawuko as discussant.

In addition to this, GIMPA will host Panel Sessions on the following: C-1: Governance and Management to Improve Cooperation Across Organisations and Public Private Partnerships. This will include speakers from China such as Dr. Obi Berko O. Damoah & Georgina Maku Cobla, Sun Xuesong, Li Bao-xiang, Wu Feng and Kong Li-kai with discussants Tsegaye Tuke Kia and Xu Jialiang. Similarly, Panel C-2 will examine the theme: Reducing Complexity in the Delivery of Public Services and Encouraging Collaborative Behaviour by Public Officials. The speakers include: Dr. Nandita Kaushal, Wu Weijun, Xiong Feng, Ye Benqian, Li Xintao, with the discussants WU Xinye and Okechukwu Marcellus Ikeanyibe. Panel C-3 will examine the theme of Big Data and Effective Network Management. It will be moderated by ASPA's Harney L. White and it will showcase papers from Han Hong, Zheng Ni & Sheng Yi, Zhan Xu, Zhang Yiye and Zhou Bowen with the discussants John McPeak and Lalneihzovi. In addition to this, there will be Panel C-4, which will treat the broad theme of Social Equity and the Quality of Inter-organisational Cooperation, which will feature papers from: K.Vasanth Gouri, Shen Hua, Shi Yifan, Liu Wei, Huang Xiaoxun, with discussants as Shanil Haricharan and Zou Dongsheng. Finally, there will be a Chinese Panel Session – C-5, that will treat scholars to a study of the Construction of Intelligent Society; People's Political Trust Versus Participation Behaviours Responding to Networks ; and Chinese Food Safety Regulation.

We look forward to an exciting workshop, treating our guests to GIMPA's hospitality, and looking forward to participating in the Seminar on West African Studies at the UCC in Cape Coast. On behalf of the Governing Council and the Academic Board, we welcome all of you to GIMPA and wish you a happy stay.

■ Welcome Message to ISWAS from University of Cape Coast

University of Cape Coast (UCC), Ghana in association with the University of Electronic Science and Technology of China (UESTC), American Society for Public Administration (ASPA), Ghana Institute of Management and Public Administration (GIMPA) and University of Ghana (UG) Ghana, is delighted to host the 1st International Symposium on West African Studies (ISWAS) at Cape Coast, Ghana, from November 16-17, 2017.

The Center for West African Studies (CWAS) of University of Electronic Science and Technology of China was established through the platform of Ministry of Education of People's Republic of China and resources of our partnership and alumni in West Africa. The establishment of Center for West African Studies is in line with Chinese National Philosophy and Social Sciences "Going Global" Strategy with the need to improve the image of UESTC in West African countries; to enhance China's influence in West Africa; to strengthen China-Africa collaborations and to serve as a bridge for researchers and practitioners from China, West Africa and beyond to identify and meet the developmental needs of the West African sub-region.

Although it is the first time to hold the International Symposium, its holding has attracted world attention with participation from countries such as China, Ghana, Nigeria, Ethiopia, Nigeria, U.S.A., etc. The submissions of the International Symposium on West African Studies \(1st ISWAS\) have amounted to up to 50 pieces that are submitted by foreign experts, scholars and practitioners to both School of Political Science and Public Administration of University of Electronic Science and Technology of China and American Society for Public Administration. After peer review, sixteen papers cover various issues concerning the current development of West Africa are included in the Proceedings 2017 International Conference on Public Administration \(12th\) & International Symposium on West African Studies \(1st\). To name a few, John McPeak, from Syracuse University, U.S.A., researches on The Role of Pastoralists' Tradition/ Cultural Institutions in Climate Change Resilience in West Africa, which opens by discussing three different perspectives on resilience that have been applied to dryland production systems, and concludes with recommendations for programming in agropastoral systems in Burkina Faso and more broadly in agro-pastoral areas in West Africa. Prof. Akwasi Osei, from Delaware State University U.S.A. Africa, researches on China, and the New Dispensation. This paper argues that the only way for this relationship to be of mutual benefit is for the continent to approach its relationships with China from a position of strength and self-interest; to use its resources for the benefit of its peoples; and to pursue people-centered policies. China can, and should, become a true alternative hope for development to the African people. Also, Dr. Obi Berko O. Damoah, from the Business School of The University, researches on a Sectoral Analysis of FDI Inflow in Ghana: The Implications for the Proposed National 40-year Strategic Plan of Ghana, argues that FDI inflows play a significant role in the socio-economic development of host countries, especially in developing countries. With regard to the ownership composition, it is found that the wholly owned investments far outweighs the joint venture projects (JVs) to Ghana. Based on the results, implications of the study on the proposed 40-year national strategic plan are suggested. All these contributions should be an important factor to ensure the success of the First International Symposium on West African Studies.

On behalf of the First International Symposium on West African Studies \(1st ISWAS\) Organising Committee at the University of Cape Coast, wish you well. We hope that you will make the most of this truly international symposium, by participating fully in all the sessions, exchanging ideas and forging networks wherever possible. We also hope that you will take time to experience the beautiful city of Cape Coast.
